

Thursday, July 18, 2013

July 18, 1863: Robert Gould Shaw's final letter to his wife Annie

Robert Gould Shaw began this letter to his wife on July 15, 1863, just after the 54th Massachusetts had fought its first engagement against Confederate troops on James Island. Shaw continued to work on the letter over the following days as the 54th drew nearer and nearer to the fortification known as Battery Wagner to the Confederates and Fort Wagner to the Union troops on Morris Island.

James' Island, S.C.
July 15, 1863

My Dearest Annie,

Your letters of June 3d, 14th, and 28th, and July 3d, 4th, and 5th, came to-day, and I felt horribly ashamed of myself for having blamed you for not taking care to post your letters. Do excuse it. It will show you how much I value your dear letters.

You don't know what a fortunate day this has been for me and for us all, excepting some poor fellows who were killed and wounded. We have at last fought alongside of white troops. Two hundred of my men on picket this morning were attacked by five regiments of infantry, some cavalry, and a battery of artillery. The Tenth Connecticut (of Stevenson's Brigade) were on their left, and say they should have had a bad time, if the Fifty-fourth men had not stood so well. The whole Division was under arms in fifteen minutes, and after coming up close in front of us, the enemy, finding us so strong, fell back. The other regiments lost in all, three men wounded. We lost seven killed, twenty-one wounded, six missing, supposed killed, and nine unaccounted for. These last are probably killed

The American Civil War

1 Veggie That Kills High Blood Pressure

Learn the 1 weird food from the grocery store that stops high blood pressure dead in its tracks.

Click Here To Learn More
bloodpressuresolution.com or captured. All these belonged to the four companies which were on picket. The main body, excepting artillery, was not engaged at all.

All this is very gratifying to us personally, and a fine thing for the coloured troops. It is the first time they have been associated with white soldiers, this side of the Mississippi. To make my happiness and satisfaction complete, the afternoon brought your and Mother's letters. . . .

I have just come in from the front with my regiment, where we were sent as soon as the Rebels retired. This shows that the events of the morning did not destroy the General's confidence in us.

We found some of our wounded, who say the Rebels treated them kindly. Other men report that some prisoners were shot. It is very common for frightened men to tell fearful stories of what they have seen; the first report comes from the wounded men themselves; the second from the stragglers. . . .

Good bye, darling, for the night. I know this letter will give you pleasure, because what we have done to-day wipes out the remembrance of the Darien affair, which you could not but grieve over, though we were innocent participators. You will have some satisfaction in telling it to your father, your Uncle Charles, and Aunt Fanny, to all of whom please give my sincere regards. Whenever you see your grandfather and grandmother, do not forget to give them my respects. To our Mamma, and Clem. I needn't say I send my warmest love. I got my horse, India-rubber tube, and some clean clothes to-day.

Cole's Island (opposite Folly Island)
July 17th, 4 P.M.

James Island was evacuated last night by our forces. My regiment started first, at 9 1/2 P.M. Not a thing was moved until after dark, and the Rebels must have been astonished this morning. Terry went there originally only to create a diversion from Morris Island, and it was useless to stay and risk being driven off, after Morris was taken. It thundered and lightened, and rained hard all night, and it took us from 10 P.M. to 5 A.M. to come four miles. Most of the way we had to march in single file along the narrow paths through the swamps. For nearly half a mile we had to pass over a bridge of one, and in some places, two planks wide, without a railing, and slippery with rain— mud and water below several feet deep—and then over a narrow dike so slippery as to make it almost impossible to keep one's feet. It took my regiment alone nearly two hours to pass the bridge and dike. By the time we got over, it was nearly daylight, and the Brigade behind us had a pretty easy time. I never had such an extraordinary walk.

We are now lying on the beach opposite the southern point of Folly Island, and have been here since five this morning. When they can get boats, they will set us across, I suppose.

There is hardly any water to be got here, and the sun and sand arc dazzling and roasting us. I shouldn't like you to see me as I am now; I haven't washed my face since day before yesterday. My conscience is perfectly easy about it, though, for it was an impossibility, and every one is in the same condition. Open air dirt, i.e. mud, & is not like the indoor article.

. . . I have had nothing but crackers and coffee these two days. It seems like old times in the army of the Potomac.

Good bye again, darling Annie.

Rob

July 18th. Morris Island—We are in General Strong's Brigade, and have left Montgomery, I hope for good. We came up here last night, and were out again all night in a very heavy rain. Fort Wagner is being very heavily bombarded. We are not far from it.

at 6:00 AM

Recommend this on Google

Labels: Battery Wagner, Fort Wagner, Robert Gould Shaw, The Second Battle of Fort Wagner

No comments:

Post a Comment

Newer Post

Home

Older Post

Subscribe to: Post Comments \(Atom\)

Social Security Shutdown

Born before 1969? You can get an extra $4,098 monthly with this

Subscribe

Posts

Comments

StumbleUpon

Please help promote it on StumbleUpon.

Civil War Resources

- American Civil War Atlases
- American Civil War Center
- Arkansas Civil War Sesquicentennial
- Battles and Leaders of the Civil War
- City of Richmond War Sesquicentennial
- Civil War Artillery
- Civil War Notebook
- Civil War Preservation Trust
- Civil War Primary Documents
- Civil War Richmond
- Civil War Signals
- Confederate States of America : Documents
- Daily Observation of the Civil War
- Encyclopedia Virginia
- First Fallen: The 100th Anniversary of the Death of Colonel Ellsworth
- Fort Pocahontas
- House Divided

Popular Posts

-

January 2, 1861: "The State of affairs at Fort Sumter"

SS Keystone State On January 2, 1861 the Richmond Daily Dispatch carried a detailed description of the activities in Charleston Harbor. Th...
-

January 9, 1861: Mississippi secedes from the Union

Click image to enlarge On January 9, 1861 the secession convention of Mississippi voted to secede from the Union, adopting the following or...
-

October 27, 1860: Lincoln writes to George T.M. Davis

Abraham Lincoln in 1860 On October 27, 1860, Abraham Lincoln wrote to answer still another request that he make some additional statement g...

-

December 1, 1860: Harriet Tubman is on the move

Thomas Garrett December 1, 1860 found Harriet Tubman busily helping more fugitive slaves escape towards freedom in the North. We can get ...

-

February 7, 1861: Little Rock Arsenal taken

Little Rock Arsenal On February 7, 1861 Congressman Alfred Rust sent a frantic telegram to Governor Henry Massey Rector warning him not to ...

-

May 8, 1861: Catesby Ap R. Jones gets

"reinforcements" Pattern 1853 Enfield rifle musket Catesby Ap R. Jones had been on Jamestown Island for several days trying to build a battery and fort to p...

-

January 19, 1863: Abraham Lincoln writes "To the Working-Men of Manchester, England"

On this day 150 years ago, President Abraham Lincoln replied to an address praising him from workingmen of Manchester, England. EXECUTIVE ...

-

July 12, 1861: A little refreshment from the Daily Dispatch Sometimes it's good just to stop and enjoy a little refreshment. On this day 150 years ago, Richmond's Daily Dispatch shared some...

-

July 18, 1863: Robert Gould Shaw's final letter to his wife Annie

Robert Gould Shaw began this letter to his wife on July 15, 1863, just after the 54th Massachusetts had fought its first

- Kentucky Civil Wa Sesquicentennial
- Life and Works of Abraham Lincoln Centenary Editor
- Maine Civil War Sesquicentennial
- Mr. Lincoln's Whit
- New Jersey Civil \ Sesquicentennial
- Official Records o Union and Confed armies
- Official Records o Union and Confed Navies in the War Rebellion
- Pamplin Historica
- Pennsylvania Civil Sesquicentennial
- Republican nation conventions of 18 1860 and 1864
- Seven Score and 1
- Slave Narratives: University
- Slave Narratives: Writers' Project
- Slavery: Primary Documents
- Slavery: U.S. Stat
- Sons of Confeder: Veterans Sesquicentennial
- South Carolina Ci Sesquicentennial
- The Census of 18
- The Civil War Dail Gazette
- The Civil War in T
- The Civil War: Newspapers & Peri
- The Lincoln Log
- The Museum of th Confederacy
- The Organization American Historia
- The Shockoe Exar
- Virginia Historical
- Wikisource - Origi Documents

Blog Archive

- March 2016 (19)
- February 2016 (26)
- January 2016 (25)
- December 2015 (33)
- November 2015 (19)
- September 2015 (8)
- July 2015 (2)
- June 2015 (1)
- May 2015 (22)
- April 2015 (69)
- March 2015 (52)
- February 2015 (47)
- January 2015 (81)
- December 2014 (32)

engagement again...

-

July 19, 1861:
Anatomy of a Blockader
USS Flag

The USS Flag was a 195 foot long, 938 ton gunboat converted from a commercial steamer. Constructed as the SS Phineas Sprague , s...

- November 2014 (25)
- October 2014 (12)
- September 2014 (23)
- August 2014 (15)
- July 2014 (15)
- June 2014 (28)
- May 2014 (37)
- April 2014 (25)
- March 2014 (30)
- February 2014 (28)
- January 2014 (48)
- December 2013 (27)
- November 2013 (24)
- October 2013 (15)
- September 2013 (40)
- August 2013 (39)
- July 2013 (57)
- June 2013 (39)
- May 2013 (32)
- April 2013 (36)
- March 2013 (30)
- February 2013 (32)
- January 2013 (33)
- December 2012 (13)
- November 2012 (8)
- October 2012 (7)
- September 2012 (14)
- August 2012 (6)
- July 2012 (16)
- June 2012 (16)
- May 2012 (19)
- April 2012 (31)
- March 2012 (27)
- February 2012 (42)
- January 2012 (39)
- December 2011 (31)
- November 2011 (30)
- October 2011 (33)
- September 2011 (32)
- August 2011 (36)
- July 2011 (35)
- June 2011 (34)
- May 2011 (41)
- April 2011 (41)
- March 2011 (21)
- February 2011 (30)
- January 2011 (46)
- December 2010 (46)
- November 2010 (43)
- October 2010 (37)
- September 2010 (34)
- August 2010 (33)
- July 2010 (42)
- June 2010 (10)
- May 2010 (7)
- April 2010 (3)
- March 2010 (1)
- February 2010 (12)
- January 2010 (23)

- December 2009 (8)
- November 2009 (2)
- October 2009 (2)
- September 2009 (3)
- October 2007 (1)
- January 2007 (3)

Subscribe

 Posts

 Comments

Networked Blogs

NetworkedBlogs

Blog:
The American Civil War

Topics:
Civil War, History
Virginia

Follow my blog

Powered by Blogger.

Google Analytics

Sitemeter

